SEMI-PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL GAMES.

For Sunday afternoon at the Mud Flats Manager O'Brien of the South Ends has booked the strong Seymour semi-professional club which team they defeated here early in the season by the score of 5 to 3. The visitors will use the same battery that made such a hit on the former visit, Wicks and Maloney. For the local team Jack Hayes will do the pitching. This will be Hayes' second attempt this season, he having pitched against the All-Americans in Meriden on Independence day. The contest that afternoon went for ten innings, only seven hits being made from his delivery. He will be held up by Mike Lucia, the crack back stop.

The Fairfield have booked a game with the Lincolns of this city for Sunday afternoon at Fairfield. Both clubs have been putting up a good article of ball this season, each being out to win their games.

"SHALL I VOTE AGAINST TARIFF BILL TO DEFEAT CORPORATION TAX BILL?"

This Question Propounded by Congressman Hill, Through Lewis B. Curtis, to Board of Trade-- Board Replies, "Use Your Influence Against Tax Bill."

The Bridgeport Board of Trade last night instructed President Fred Enos to send a telegram to Washington protesting against the proposed corporation tax, imposing upon him a far from pleasant duty, for Mr. Enos is collector of internal revenue for this district, receives his appointment direct from the President, and the corporation tax is supposed to be the President's own measure. Nevertheless, after a suitable telegram had been prepared by Judge A. B. Beers, local counsel for the United Illuminating Company, George M. Enos, general manager of the local plant of the Singer Mfg. Company, President Enos courageously signed and sent it.

This action was not taken until Lewis B. Curtis, of Curtis & Curtis, had read a personal letter from Senator Frank B. Brandegee to the effect that the corporation tax bill was only passed to defeat an income tax bill. The letter said that enough Senators were taken away from the income tax bill by the corporation tax measure to insure the defeat of the former. Action was not taken until Mr. Curtis had also read a personal letter from Congressman Ebenezer J. Hill, saying:

S. A. R. APPROVES MODEL OF STATUE FOR COMPO BEACH

The State board of managers of the Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution convened at New Haven yesterday afternoon and considered the model which has been submitted to them by Sculptor Webster of New York city, which is to mark the spot of the invasion of the British at Compo Beach, Westport, in 1777, prior to the burning of Danbury, and especially to commemorate the battle which was held on the beach.
There were about two hundred members of the society present.
The sculptor submitted a design for a life size bronze figure of a Continental soldier in firing posture, to be mounted on a Connecticut boulder, on the Compo heights overlooking the sound. The idea was very acceptable to the State board of managers, and was accepted, subject to the decision of the State board of sculpture. The State board is composed in part of Charles Noel Flegg and Arthur L. Shipman of Hartford, and Professor

At a special meeting of the Board of Trade held this day, it was unanimously voted that the provision of Sec. 6 of the act relating to corporations, joint stock associations, etc., are objectionable, and request that you use your influence to prevent the passage of said section.

The order creating the above statement was unanimously adopted, but nevertheless there was much sentiment among those present that the tax ought not to be opposed.

This sentiment was typically represented by E. H. H. Smith, of the E. H. H. Smith Silver Co., who asserted that two per cent of net earnings paid to the government is not an excessive tax and who further declared that the people in Bridgeport ought to be willing to help the people in Washington get money to run the government.

Judge A. B. Beers was called upon to explain the meaning of the proposed law. This he did very succinctly. The bill imposes a tax of two per cent upon the net earnings of every corporation. If the government does not accept the statement of the corporation as to what its earnings are it may go through the books of the concern and find out. The tax must be paid before dividends are paid. Judge Beers suggested that the tax on beer and liquors might be increased to raise the necessary revenue and the tax on corporate income omitted.

Dr. D. Frankel, of New York, representing the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; William Tolman, vice president of the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters, and J. B. Jones, local representative of the Metropolitan Life, opposed the tax. The arguments of all of these speakers rested upon the idea that owners of stock the profits upon which are derived from the sale of insurance, will also have to pay two per cent of their profits to the government, if the bill becomes a law.

Fairfield County News.

Scarcity of Water.
Owing to the continued spell of dry weather, and the fact that the water in the reservoir is gradually lowering at a rate that is somewhat alarming, the Bethel Water Commissioners are obliged to place restrictions in regard to the use of water for sprinkling purposes. Hereafter no lawn sprinkling will be allowed, and street sprinkling will only be allowed ten minutes night and morning. The commissioners ask that the consumers of water do what they can to prevent any waste.

Unclaimed Deposits.
The New Canaan Savings Bank has made its report of deposits remaining undistributed for twenty years or more. The list follows: Harriet E. Vallou, $6.90; Julia M. Malkin, $16.14; James E. Davenport, $12.04; Thomas Fitzpatrick, $51.30; Ellen Burnes, $3.67; Julia M. Hall, $58.80; Mary Tallmadge, $10.49.

Bequest to Norwalk Church.

Practically the entire estate left by Morris M. Norton of Norwalk, amounting to nearly $15,000, is to go to the South Norwalk Congregational church. The money was left to the church by the will of Mrs. Norton, who died several years ago, but was left in trust for Mr. Norton, and now reverts to the church. Mr. Norton died Sunday at the age of eighty.
